

Program:	BA Program
Degree:	BA/BS
Department:	Political Science
Contact Name:	John Robertson
Contact Phone:	5-2511

Outcome	Master Planning and Development Challenges for Community Problem-Solving
Marketable Skills	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Make accurate and relevant projections based on empirical evidence connected to a problem and an outcome intended to address problems within relevant community</li> <li>• Coordinate and organize people with different attitudes, values and preferences to integrate their different abilities to address a common problem and challenge</li> <li>• Master the critical steps in identifying a problem, locating relevant resources to address problem, and establishing measurable guidelines for assessing treatment of problem</li> </ul>

Outcome	Acquire Quantitative Statistical Skills for Data Analysis of Social Behavior and Public Authority
Marketable Skills	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Master data collection through methods of sampling</li> <li>• Master basic skills of connecting appropriate and valid empirical evidence to propositions and assertions regarding problems and social challenges</li> <li>• Using core methods of correlation analysis to test propositions and assumptions connecting data to propositions and assertions regarding problems and social challenges</li> </ul>

Outcome	Applying Analytical Skills to Community and Social Issue Management
Marketable Skills	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Connecting complex ideas connecting public authority to community values and goals into a broader framework of understanding and comprehension</li> <li>• Recognizing clearly contending and differing perspectives among people and explaining shared priorities and preferences among these contending viewpoints</li> <li>• Interpreting complex data in a non-technical, comprehensible fashion for a non-expert</li> <li>• Acquiring knowledge of and familiarity with a variety of sources of data and evidence related to different aspects of society and political issues</li> </ul>

Outcome	Constructing Civic Communication and Discourse
Marketable Skills	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Mastering organization and execution oral public presentation of complex social issues</li> <li>• Mastering ability to draft analytical reports and assessments of complex social and community issues</li> </ul>

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Utilizing effectively quantitative and qualitative tools of analysis applied to issues and questions of social conflict and community discourse</li> <li>• Clarify for non experts the relevant and pertinent social issues surrounding a complex social problem</li> <li>• Logically connecting a problem with a solution and articulating the evidence to demonstrate the connection between a problem and a consensual solution and the measurement of the intended outcome</li> </ul>
--	--

Outcome	Applying Global Literacy and Competency to Social and Community Dialogue
Marketable Skills	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Understanding and recognizing cultural and political variability and an appreciation d culture-specific attitudes, ideals and practices and significance to cooperation and collaboration</li> <li>• Mastering the technical concepts associated with conflict resolution</li> <li>• Identifying critical and common institutions of political decision making and policy making across different nation-state settings</li> <li>• Recognizing how human and technical resources in different cultural settings impact varying threat perceptions across cultures and communities of other national settings</li> <li>• Understand the difference between universal and national standards of security and threat to security</li> </ul>

Outcome	Mastering Civic and Community Leadership
Marketable Skills	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Understanding role of public authority in resolving community disputes over resource allocation</li> <li>• Mastering how to applying differing social skills and attitudes among different people in constructing team and group efforts in community problem-solving</li> <li>• Critically assess the value and contribution of differing groups’ perceptions of community problems in constructing a common public policy response to civic and community challenge</li> <li>• Understand the roles and responsibilities of institutional authority, including executive, legislative, judicial, political party and interest group responsibilities and roles within American local national communities, as well as international communities.</li> </ul>

Outcome	Constructing Sustainable Social Dialogues Among Groups within Community
Marketable Skills	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Recognizing and explaining to others in written and verbal communication how economic resources impact civic opportunity and engagement</li> <li>• Mastering use of comparative data from differing community and civic settings to compare and contrast different circumstances in assessing expected outcomes from public and private strategies</li> <li>• Explicate complex cause – effect relationships within the broader political-economic system of exchange between individuals, public authority, and private organizations within local, national and international communities.</li> </ul>

Program:	BS Program
Degree:	BA/BS
Department:	Political Science
Contact Name:	John Robertson
Contact Phone:	5-2511

Outcome	Master Planning and Development Challenges for Community Problem-Solving
Marketable Skills	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Make accurate and relevant projections based on empirical evidence connected to a problem and an outcome intended to address problems within relevant community</li> <li>• Coordinate and organize people with different attitudes, values and preferences to integrate their different abilities to address a common problem and challenge</li> <li>• Master the critical steps in identifying a problem, locating relevant resources to address problem, and establishing measurable guidelines for assessing treatment of problem</li> </ul>

Outcome	Acquire Quantitative Statistical Skills for Data Analysis of Social Behavior and Public Authority
Marketable Skills	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Master data collection through methods of sampling</li> <li>• Master basic skills of connecting appropriate and valid empirical evidence to propositions and assertions regarding problems and social challenges</li> <li>• Using core methods of correlation analysis to test propositions and assumptions connecting data to propositions and assertions regarding problems and social challenges</li> <li>• Utilize and interpret social data bearing on differing assessments of community and civic conflict</li> <li>• Apply advanced mathematical logic and applications to structure models explaining cost and gain strategies for contending social groups pursuing resolution to social issues in community</li> <li>• Apply advanced statistically modeling of impact assessment used for assessing relative gain and loss associated with contending public policy options</li> <li>• Employ multi-variate linear and non-linear models to test assumptions of cause - effect relationship underlying contending preferences for solving community challenges</li> <li>• Master abilities to assess validity and reliability of data used in assessing cost-benefit outcomes to public policy strategies within communities and civic settings</li> <li>• Master the language and application of prominent software programs for social science quantitative analysis</li> </ul>

Outcome	Applying Analytical Skills to Community and Social Issue Management
Marketable Skills	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Connecting complex ideas connecting public authority to community values and goals into a broader framework of understanding and comprehension</li> <li>• Recognizing clearly contending and differing perspectives among people and explaining shared priorities and preferences among these contending viewpoints</li> <li>• Interpreting complex data in a non-technical, comprehensible fashion for a non-expert</li> <li>• Acquiring knowledge of and familiarity with a variety of sources of data and evidence related to different aspects of society and political issues</li> </ul>

Outcome	Constructing Civic Communication and Discourse
Marketable Skills	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Mastering organization and execution oral public presentation of complex social issues</li> <li>• Mastering ability to draft analytical reports and assessments of complex social and community issues</li> <li>• Utilizing effectively quantitative and qualitative tools of analysis applied to issues and questions of social conflict and community discourse</li> <li>• Clarify for non experts the relevant and pertinent social issues surrounding a complex social problem</li> <li>• Logically connecting a problem with a solution and articulating the evidence to demonstrate the connection between a problem and a consensual solution and the measurement of the intended outcome</li> </ul>

Outcome	Applying Global Literacy and Competency to Social and Community Dialogue
Marketable Skills	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Understanding and recognizing cultural and political variability and an appreciation d culture-specific attitudes, ideals and practices and significance to cooperation and collaboration</li> <li>• Mastering the technical concepts associated with conflict resolution</li> <li>• Identifying critical and common institutions of political decision making and policy making across different nation-state settings</li> <li>• Recognizing how human and technical resources in different cultural settings impact varying threat perceptions across cultures and communities of other national settings</li> <li>• Understand the difference between universal and national standards of security and threat to security</li> </ul>

Outcome	Mastering Civic and Community Leadership
Marketable Skills	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Understanding role of public authority in resolving community disputes over resource allocation</li> <li>• Mastering how to applying differing social skills and attitudes among different people in constructing team and group efforts in community problem-solving</li> <li>• Critically assess the value and contribution of differing groups' perceptions of community problems in constructing a common public policy response to civic and community challenge</li> <li>• Understand the roles and responsibilities of institutional authority, including executive, legislative, judicial, political party and interest group responsibilities</li> </ul>

	and roles within American local national communities, as well as international communities.
--	---

Outcome	Constructing Sustainable Social Dialogues Among Groups within Community
Marketable Skills	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Recognizing and explaining to others in written and verbal communication how economic resources impact civic opportunity and engagement</li> <li>• Mastering use of comparative data from differing community and civic settings to compare and contrast different circumstances in assessing expected outcomes from public and private strategies</li> <li>• Explicate complex cause – effect relationships within the broader political-economic system of exchange between individuals, public authority, and private organizations within local, national and international communities.</li> </ul>